Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 6.—Through seven in-nings on a sticky field the second game be-tween the Pirates and the Cardinals dragged drearily along until, hopeless a break in the rain which fell steadily near-ly all day, coupled disagreeably with a chill northeast wind, Umpire Hank O'Day called the game, when two more rounds remained to be fought, with the score hung up at 8 to 1, the higher figure belonging to Pitts-

Rain fell nearly all day and during most of the game, but nearly 2,000 fans braved the disagreeable weather, attracted by the importance of the contest. In the seventh inning, after waiting five minutes in the of the earlier ones would pass over quickly the game was called on account of wet

Although beaten the Cardinals were not caught by such an avalanche as over-whelmed the Pirates Monday. The score was one-sided, but Donovan and all of his men fought every inch of the way to the finish, Captain Patsy capping the climax by making two hair-raising catches in the last inning. Indeed. the Cardinals were ever-zealous. Emboldened by their success in the first game, they were too anxious at the bat and, consequently, fell victims to Tannehill's seemingly easy delivery.
Rooted for Cardinals.

The Cardinals had almost as many rooters as the Pirates, and the war of words between the rival bands was as interesting as the game itself. Dick Padden's friends from Martin's Ferry, O., numbered at least a dozen, and they had seats directly back of the visiting club's bench. Every time Richard handled the ball they cheered long and loud. From Millvale, Pa., came a delegation of admirers of Bobby Wallace, and, while the star shortstop had little to do in the field, his efforts at the bat furnished his friends good opportunities for cutting loose.

Harper Had Poor Control.

Harper had his rooters, too, from up the Allegheny Valley Ruffroad, and Heldrick, himself a Pennsylvania boy, and Donovan, an ex-Pirate, had their usual following. Harper had everything but control, and his had start was due to his inability to handle the ball, which became wet and sticky every time it rolled over the thoroughly drenched field.

Pirates Begin Run-Getting. Clarke, the first man up for the Pirates, got a pass to first and a wild pitch advanced him to second. Beaumont tried hard to bunt, but, falling in that, swung hard at the ball and tore off a single to left field. Harpor then gave his second fert neid. Harpor then gave his second free walk. Davis being the favored one, and he bases were thus filled. Hans Wagner ambied up to the plate and hit a warm drive over second. Wallace made a splendid effort to get it, but, after crossing over to Padden's side of the bag, managed only to touch the ball with one hand, and Clarke

JESSE BURKETT GIVES HIS IMPRESSIONS OF THE GAME.

The Veteran Left Gardener Describes the Seven-Inning Contest in the Rain, and Contrasts It With the Landslide of Monday.

BY JESSE BURKETT.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 6.-If we could tell in advance what is going to happen on the diamond, what would be the use of playing the games?

The uncertainty is the life of the sport. I thought we would have a cinch to-day with Jack Harper on the rubber. No one ever accused us of not supporting him, and he has been beaten so rarely this year that I felt sure that the Pirates could not touch his drop and curves, but things did not come our way, and Harper had to stand for another black mark on his record. There are so few charged up against him that the one will not deprive him of the honor of leading the League's pitchers.

Harper was not a mark by any means. The Pirates got only ten hits, but they had all the luck and that made the game more one-sided than it should have been. To compare the game with yesterday's would be entirely out of the question. We had a regular love feast yesterday in the eighth inning with Chesbro and Dobeny, and our eleven runs were the result. A wet day nearly always proves a winner for Tannehill, and our inability to hit was due to his deceptive slow balls. I never in all my experience in baseball saw such slugging as we did in yesterday's game. It seemed every member of the team had his batting clothes on.

Padden, Heldrick and Captain Donovan led the procession, and the way they settled the sphere was a caution. We could have besten Matthewson to a pulp yester-day, when each member of the team appeared to fairly eat up speed.

I don't know why it was, but Harper seemed unable to get control of the ball today. It rained nearly all day, and the wet ball may have had something to do with wikiness. When he put the ball over the plate without getting into a hole, the Pirates didn't do much damage, but often he had to let up in his speed in order to hit the target, and then he suffered.

One run will not win many games, and as that is all we could get from Tannehill's pitching, the responsibility for the defeat should not be placed upon Harper's shoulders. Tannehill put the ball over the pan every time, and for some reason we could not get it safe when hits meant runs.

We played another fast game in the field. Donovan made two great catches of line hits in the seventh inning. Neither was more than a foot off the ground when Patsy gathered it in. Heidrick did not deserve the error charged. It was O'Day caught sure enough. There was no one on bases at the time and I yelled at Heidrick to throw the ball to me. Just as he turned to do so the slippery leather fell out of his hands and rolled to the ground. O'Day, who had stooped to pick up his mask when he saw Heidrick make the catch, looked up just in time to see Emmet pick the ball up, and, supposing that a muff had been made, he called the runner safe. The decision did not affect the result, but it gave the Pirates two of their eight bleacher fence for a home run. But never mind, there are more games to be played with the League leaders, and they are more afraid of these games than we are. The Pirates are in a hole for to-morrow's game, as they have no slow-ball pitcher to put in against us. We are going to win the game, but expect to have a hard struggle to do so.

sluggers of the Smokeville crew. One of his hits was made for the entire circuit.

As was predicted, the Selecites put a check upon the upward march of the Quakers in an interesting game at Boston yesterday. The heavy sluggers of the Slow City bunch secured only six hits off Dineen's delivery, and these produced but half as many runs. "Rube" Waddell was the "main guy" in the defeat of Cincinnati by Chicago, the mighty Chicagoan striking out eleven of the Reds. Philadelphia has an exasperating way of losing only when the Cardinals lose and winning every time the Cardinals have a chance for second place.

scored on the hit. Again were the bases full, with no one out, but the Cardinals were steady under fire and the Pirates scored only one more run. Beaumont came in when Bransfield forced Wagner at second. Paoden claimed that Wagner interfered with his throw to first, thus spolling a double play, and the two players indulged in a wordy war, which was settled by Donovan quieting the frate second baseman. Umpire Tom Brown refused to rule on the point. A moment later Ritchey hit to Wallace, who, with the assistance of Padden and McGann, pulled off a double play, retiring the side.

Leach opened the second and Clarke the third inning with singles, but neither scored, thanks to the clean field work of the men behind Harper. In the fourth Bransfield, the first man up, walked. Ritchey hit to Kruger, who made a neat stop, but spoiled his performance by a wild throw to Padden, losing a fine chance for a double. Kruger was nervous and allowed Leach's drive to get past him, Bransfield scoring on the deal. Tannehill, by placing a hit far out to right, scored Ritchey, Leach tried to stretch his legs for home, but Donovan's throw held him at third. Clarke then cracked out a two-bagger to the right fence, and Leach walked in. Another run might have been scored if Clarke had not lost his head. He tried to steal third while Tannehill was still occupying temporary quarters there and was caught. Davis scored in the fifth on his own single, a base on balls and Leach's hit. Heidrick's alleged muff, which was not an error at all, and Beaumout's home drive to right strengthened the Firates' score by the addition of two runs in the seventh.

Burket's Scored Only Run.

Jesse Burkett saved the Cardinals from a shut-out by crossing the pan in the third round, thanks to Wagner's error. Jesse hit to Wagner and reached second on the latter's wild throw to Bransfield. He gained the third corner on Yeager's passed ball, and scored on Padden's long fly to Clarke.

DECIDING GAME TO-DAY.

Cardinals Go to Cincinnati To-Morrow and Return Home Saturday.

It will be mip and tuck to-day between the Donovanites and Captain Kidd Clarke's men to see which team shall bag the third game of the series. Unless the rain renders the grounds at Exposition Park unfit for use, a sharp struggle may be expected. Donovan may again call on Sudhoff to officiate at the slab. It will be a chance for "Wee Willie" to show his mettle, and the locals can in no way better disprove the stories anent their playing behind the cotton-topped twirier than by giving him faultless support. Poole, the new Pittsburg pitcher, may be used by Clarke, Everything points to Sudhoff as to-day's slabman, Murphy, according to last reports, being still out of the same.

Leaving the Smoky City to-night, the Cardinals will proceed homeward, stopling by the wayside for two arguments with the subjects of "King Bid" McPhee at Cincinnati. The Reds seem to be trying to oust the Remnants from last place just at present, and the Donovanites should have no trouble in making it two straight over them. The Cincinnati team will come to St. Louis with the Cardinals Saturday and begin a series of three games. Chicaco follows with three more and then come the Pirates for four.

J. Emmet Heldrick falled to figure in the hitting yesterday, although he was four times up. Heldrick smothered three balls in the field, however. Another got away from him, but it is said it could'nt be touched, although J. Emmet is assessed an error on the deal.

The dreary, rainy after on seemingly dampened the playing of both teams, and no particularly brilliant performances were pulled off. Had the game gone the limit, however, a very different result might have been recorded, as the Donovanites have more than once wen out in the eleventh hour.

It was really too bad that "Jack" Harper should have such luck on the day before his wedding. In St. Louis his failure to annex the game might have resulted in a postponement of the ceremony, but in Oil City it is different. At that, Harper lost his game principally on account of weather conditions. The ball was wet and sticky, as new balls are on such occasions, and anything like precision in handling the horsehide under such conditions was a stiff proposition.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 6.—St. Paul was shut out by Omaha to-day because of the inability of the team to hit Gordon. Both of the teams put up a fast fielding game. The one-handed catch of Cogan's drive by Fleming in left field was the best ever seen on the Omaha grounds. Score:

JOYCE MAY MANAGE GIANTS. Report That St. Louisan Has Adjusted

The chase after the bunting is growing more interesting every day. The Pirates hold the fort with an even .600, with the Quakers only 25 points to the bad. The Donovanites are snapping at the Phillies heels, only 8 points separating them. Brooklyn stands far down in the .400 class, and seems out of the reckoning, but Boston is coming up in great leaps. It now looks like a neck-and-neck finish between the Pirates, Cardinals. Quakers and Selecites. As a result of correspondence which has been passing between "Scrappy" Bill Joyce and President Freedman of the New Yorks, it was reported that Joyce left on the Big Four for New York at $96 p. m. The report has it that Joyce is to manage the Gotham team and that President Freedman hopes, with the assistance of Joyce, to pull the team out of the rut into which it has fallen.

Win Mercer, who rejoined the Washington team Monday at Philadelphia, might lay claim to the title of the Dexter of the American League. Charley Dexter has played every position, excepting pitcher, with the Chicago National Leaguers. Mercer, when with New York and Washington, did considerable pitching and was rated a good one. He is still doing slab work for Jimmy Manning. New York played Mercer in more than one infield position, and he also covered ground in the outer gardens. His latest role is that of first bassanan, esaayed in the doubleheader against Philadelphia Monday. The correspondence between New York and St. Louis is said to have been going on for ten days. Joyce has a bill against Freedman for back salary, but it is thought that this will be amicably settled.

A special dispatch to The Republic from New York says: "President Freedman, at his summer home near Red Bank, was asked as to the reported engagement of Joyce, and as to whether he had select the St. Louisan to assume the management of the team, and replied; "I have nothing to say on the subject."

NO PLAYERS SIGNED FOR 1902. Secretary Heilbroner Not Afraid of Losing Any of the Cardinals. Losing Any of the Cardinals.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 6.—The St. Louis
Baseball Club is not alarmed as to the prospects of its star players going to other clubs next season.

"We have not signed a man for 192," declared Becretary Helibronner this evening.

Crank-Schriver is the oldest man of the Cardinals, and either Harper or Murphy the youngest. The two young pitchers are somewhere between the ages of 23 and 25, while Schriver is well up in the thirties. clared Becretary Heibronner this evening.
"I understand that the Pittsburg club has gathered in all of its men, but we have not even attempted to sign any of ours. There are plenty of good men in the field, and, while I do not believe that any of our men think seriouely of leaving us, I would be the last man on earth to get down on my knees to them for a signature if I did. No. no; St. Louis is solid. The boys know who is good to them, you can bet a pretty penny." Fan—The discrepancy was caused by a mistake in the number of games lost by Rt. Louis. If you will notice the lost column of the percentage table you will see that the Cardinals are credited with one less losing game in the Chicago papers than in the local press. Had that been the case, the Cardinals would have taken second place after their second defeat of Chicago.

PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL

Effort May Be Made to Organise Circuit, Including St. Louis.

Word comes from Milwaukee that an effort will be made in the near future to revive the professional football question in the West. A meeting will be held in Chicago the latter part of this month, at which time definite plane, it is said, will be agreed on.

As roughly outlined, the plan is to organize a professional football association in the the West, the players to be composed largely of baseball players. The plan also includes the introduction of the association game instead of the Rugby.

Last year an attempt to form such an association fell through. St. Louis was to have been included in the circuit as well as Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit and other Western cities. The idea seems to be not very ardently supported in St. Louis nor Detroit, both of which cities boast of strong association teams. Among the men who are said to be behind the enterprise are: President Charles Comiskey of the Chicago White Stockings, and George Stailings of the Detroit American League baseball team.

Colored Boy.

Webb City, Mo., Aug. 6.—The fifteen-round contest between Eddie Morris, colored middle-weight of Chicago, and Bob Long of Webb City, which was pulled off here last night, resulted in a decision for Long in the third round. George Siler of Chicago acted as referee.

The decision was not well received, many claiming that Long fouled Morris at the end of the third round.

Long sent a wicked right in the region of Morris's stomach, and most of those who saw the blow claim it was a foul. The bell rang while Morris was down, and he was unable to proceed with the fight when the bell rang for the fourth round. Siler states positively that the blow was upon the stomach. More than 700 persons witnessed the bout.

Texas Woman, Whose Husband Refused Her $150, Is at Head of the Community - Headquarters Near Washington.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Washington, Aug. 6.—One of the most pe-cultar religious communities in the country makes its headquarters just outside this city. It is known as the Sanctified Sisterhood. There are twenty-five members, all of the gentler sex. Their home is a spacious house in Mount Pleasant, one of the finest of the suburbs of the national capital. The Sanctified Sisterhood is not native to Washington, but came here from Texas three years ago.

The leader of this novel community is Mrs. McWhirter, a woman who is in Her seventy-fifth year, and whose granddaugh-ter, three years old, is the youngest mem-ber, the ages of the others ranging between there two extremes.

The movement which led the Sanctified Sisters to dwell together began some thirty years ago in the little town of Belton, Tex. It started with a "ladies" prayer meeting," which met weekly at a house of one of the members. They studied the Scriptures for themselves, and soon began to evolve doctrines so strange to the orthodox members of the churches to which they belonged that in time they were brought up before their respective congregations and the seal of church disapproval set upon their new doctrines by giving back to them their letters. One of their beliefs was, and is, that every woman should be financially independent of men, and they carried ti so far as to insist that wives should not accept money from their husbands.

Asked Husband for $150.

Asked Husbands for $150.

Their assertion of financial independence was precipitated by Mrs. McWhirter one day asking her husband for $150. He wanted to know what she wanted with so much money all at once. She declined to specify the use she proposed to put it to, and he declined to produce the sum. Thereupon she issued a declaration of independence, in which she announced her intention that hereafter she would run that household without help from him, for herself and her children. And she did it, too. He stood it for a few months and then sought more congenial quarrers.

The members in good standing the last of last year were 6,5%, a net loss for two years of 1,500. The average death rate for the two years was 19.2 per one thousand. The number of lodges is 28.

The question of establishing a permanent Grand Lodge home was the interesting topic of to-day's session. A committee, to whom the subject had been referred, reported in favor of Dalias, but consideration of the report was postponed until the mext regular meeting. The committee was continued and directed to invite bids for the location from various cities that wish to have the permanent Grand Lodge.
